

Sir,

In the very first “Q” on your FAQ section, you state “(that) the incident saw an anonymous hacker steal 160MB of data from the UEA server (including more than 1,000 emails and 3,000 other documents) and leak it online.”

Has it really been verified that this is true? The media is elsewhere full of suggestions that you are faced with an (internal) whistleblower.

An investigation, or review, into such grave allegations that have followed what has developed into what has been termed “ClimateGate” places a large burden on the review body. I would presume that the burden will be somewhat easier to carry if you make sure you have all the relevant facts straight.

Regards,

Tor Berge S. Gjersvik, siv.ing, dr.ing