

Having spent the last 4+ months looking into man made global warming, I have been dismayed to find how much cherry-picking of data has been taking place to support the 'theory' of AGW. Now I find Sir Muir Russell is playing the same game by staffing his 'neutral' panel with pro-warmers. Out of all the scientists in the world to choose from Sir Russell picks this sorry biased bunch. How can you continue to call this an independent panel with articles like this in plain view to anyone who cares to read them.

<http://news.scotsman.com/news/Senior-Scots-scientist-in-climate.6069702.jp>

<http://climateaudit.org/2010/02/12/royal-society-of-edinburgh-oct-29-2009/#comments>

Yours, with disgust,
Stephen Johnson
BSc (Hons) Physics.