

Dear Sir/Madam,

Would you be so kind to remove the wikipedia climate change information link from the FAQ on your website?

The wikipedia articles on climate change are not only non peer-reviewed, but have also repeatedly been described as heavily biased (e.g. see this National Post article by Lawrence Solomon). The [redacted], and Michael Mann's Realclimate.org website (ex-)blogger, William M. Connolley.

Note the 100,000+ hits on google for the search 'connolley wikipedia'.

An independent review website should not include this type contested (and easily manipulated) sources.

Thank you for your time, all the best with your investigation, and kind regards,

Vid Štimac
